Administration

Mr. Tom James, principal, has been an asset to the working staff of Giant Land for thirteen years.

He has been more than productive ensuring the staff the "Home of the Giants" is a comfortable "home away from home."

Giant Land is one of productivity which is also one of Mr. James' objectives. He stressed administrative and faculty cooperation as a team effort. So that "togetherness," the Green Leaf Theme, is revealed.

The Giants have progressed not only athletically, but academically as well under Mr. James' administration. He attributes success to a staff who works together so that a task is successfully done.

James asserts that his followers also function in leadership capacities. "Everybody must work jointly if a job is to be conquered."

When one sees the leader with his "stick" in his hand, it's only symbolic of a burning torch searching for a clearer and brighter way of facing a new tomorrow.

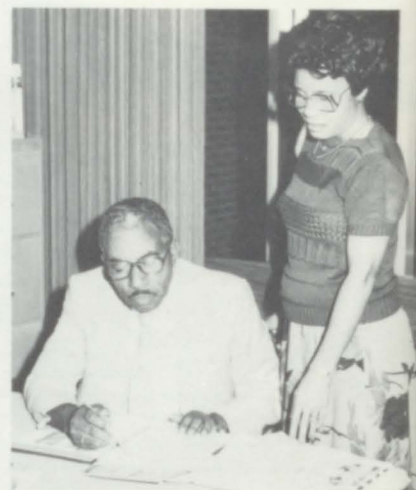

Giants are proud of the principal for his many efforts in operating this beautiful school.

Student, Charlotte Harris and Mr. James look over program outline for the next assembly.

"Yes, Mr. James, I agree", says Miss Hayes as they turn the page of time.

Mrs. Hill assures Mr. James that all finances are in order.

Principal Tom James

Assistant Principals

Assistant principals Huey J. Hunt and John Baldwin worked together to correlate student and teacher activities.

Mr. Baldwin worked closely with the faculty, scheduling classes, making classroom visits to observe instructional activities, selecting textbooks and supplies, planning faculty in service programs and even serving as a substitute teacher.

Mr. Hunt worked directly with the students. He coordinated the activities for clubs and organizations, enforced the school discipline code and supervised athletic events during the year. Together they worked to have a successful year.

Meeting With Janice

Office Personnel—Busy Workers

The office personnel worked hard and diligently in helping to see that the school is run efficiently. Their many functions included registering students, taking attendance and calling parents, publishing two daily bulletins, checking students in and out and receiving messages.

Faculty

Throughout the year the Green Oaks media center was the ideal place to get the resource to bring the book report, paper or talk all together. The library had subscriptions to a variety of magazines, newspapers or journals and back issues are maintained for easy access so that students can easily research topics in a variety of fields. The library also has an excellent selection of books and encyclopedias to future student research. The library was open early and remained open after school hours to allow students more flexibility in finding time to use it.

The librarian, Mrs. Ruby Horton, assists Sydney Prymus in locating information for a science project.

Mrs. Delois Bennent, Library Secretary

The A-V librarian, Mr. Larry Bryan, was always available to assist teachers and students in selecting the software or equipment they need in preparing for class. Films, filmstrips, records, video tapes, maps and other aids are prepared and catalogued.

The Green Oaks Counselors have always been a very real asset to the school. This year was no exception. They were available to assist students in selecting colleges, careers, schedules, or with some of the other problems high school students encounter. With the availability of a variety of catalog and other tools the counselors are well equipped to advise the students.

Throughout the year they administered tests, held group sessions and met individually with students.

Below: Mrs. White discussed the ACT Careers survey results with Tangelia Lyles.
